The Trimble Banner

Vol. 129, No. 50      WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 2012      BEDFORD, KY.      75 cents      10 pages

Overweight

Jim Pirtle/for The Trimble Banner

An officer with the Kentucky Division of Commercial Vehicle Enforcement directed traffic around a commercial box truck he had stopped on the Kentucky side of the Milton-Madison Bridge yesterday. Law enforcement authorities have expanded enforcement of the three ton weight limit on both sides of the river. Despite clearly visible weight limit signs, truckers continue to attempt to cross the span. This driver was forced to back off the structure and detour to another bridge. A huge crane can be seen lifting beams into place as workmen continue to assemble the temporary ramp on the Milton riverbank that will serve as the bridge approach following the April 25-29 construction-related closure of the span.

Deadline nears to register for FEMA help

Survivors of the tornadoes, severe storms, flooding and straight-line winds on March 2 have until May 7 to register for disaster assistance through the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Disaster assistance for homeowners and renters can include grants to help pay for temporary housing, home repairs and other serious disaster-related expenses not met by insurance or other assistance programs.

Low-interest disaster loans are available from the Small Business Administration to homeowners, renters, nonprofits and businesses of all sizes. SBA is the largest source of federal disaster funds for repairing or replacing damaged or destroyed property.

Businesses also have until Monday, May 7, to return their completed SBA physical damage applications.

Returning an SBA application is essential to receiving additional forms of disaster assistance from FEMA. However, no survivor is obligated to accept a loan.

Survivors are reminded of the importance of documenting damage they had and saving receipts for supplies and labor to repair damage.

There are three ways to register with FEMA for help or information regarding disaster assistance: call 800-621-FEMA (3362), register online at www.DisasterAssistance.gov, or register using a tablet or Smartphone by visiting m.fema.gov. Help is available in many languages. Disaster applicants who use TTY should call 800-462-7585.

Governor: Carroll plant to expand

By JEFF MOORE
The Trimble Banner

DRC Industries of Carrollton will purchase the old Parthenon building on Jay Loudon Road as part of a $2 million expansion that will add 25 jobs.

Gov. Steve Beshear made the announcement in a news release Tuesday.

DRC is purchasing the 126,000-square-foot facility for its packaging materials business.

“The growth we’re seeing at DRC Industries is exciting and highlights the successful efforts of a dedicated workforce here in the Commonwealth,” Beshear said. “Not only does this mean DRC Industries will spend millions of dollars here in Kentucky, but it also adds up to 25 new jobs for Kentucky citizens, and that is great news.”

DRC Industries President Daniel Click said Tuesday that the expansion is part of an expansion that will double the company’s volume.

Purchasing the former Parthenon building will allow the company to relocate some of its operations from the Hawkins Street location, an 80,000-square-foot facility, Click said.

Some manufacturing and all shipping and receiving will move to the Jay Loudon Road location, he said. This will allow the company to get a lot of truck traffic away from downtown, which Click said is particularly important with the upcoming expansion.

Established in 2003, DRC Industries has grown from distributing and warehousing packaging supplies to expanding its manufacturing capabilities.

“After looking at other locations and considering all factors, it made the most business sense to stay in Carroll County,” Click said. “The acquisition of the new larger facility will provide more than enough room for today’s business and tomorrow’s growth.”

A key advantage to operating in Carrollton and Carroll County is the location and easy access to Interstate 71, he said. Louisville and Cincinnati markets are just 45 minutes away, while Indianapolis, Ind., is an hour-and-a-half drive.

Click said this is what has helped his company be so successful. Because DRC Industries is shipping paper tubing, he said it is mostly air. To be competitive, the firm needs to be within eight hours or less of key markets.

Carrollton is at “the bulls-eye of the mid-west,” he said, which allows them to easily ship to Atlanta, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, or to states as far north as Michigan.

To encourage the investment job growth, the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority preliminarily approved the company for tax incentives up to $250,000 through the Kentucky Business Investment program, according to the governor’s news release. The performance-based incentive allows a company to keep a portion of its investment over the term of the agreement through corporate income tax credits and wage assessments by meeting job and investment targets.

Carroll County Judge-Executive Harold “Shorty” Tomlinson said county tax incentives are a part of the package offered to DRC Industries.

Tomlinson said he is now working with Click and officials to secure an upgrade for the rail spur at the former Parthenon facility. “We still trying to help support them,” he said.

Click said the improved rail spur can help DRC Industries remain competitive if the price of gas continues to increase. The company ships in paper and lumber products, much of it from Canada, which could move to rail if fuel prices to up to $7 a gallon.

The county has been working with Click and officials from the state’s economic development cabinet for several months, Tomlinson said.

Rescheduled ALS event is Saturday

By DAVE TAYLOR
The Trimble Banner

“Bob’s Bunch Battling ALS” will hold a fundraiser to raise funds for ALS research at the Morgan Community Center in Bedford on Saturday, April 14, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The event was originally scheduled for March 3 but the tornado that struck the Milton Fire Station No. 2 on the day before forced the cancellation of that event.

Saturday’s event is being held to bring continued awareness to the local region about Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis, commonly known as “Lou Gehrig’s disease.”

“Bob’s Bunch” was organized last year by Bedford resident Diane McKinney, whose husband, Bob, was diagnosed with the disease in 2009.

McKinney said a number of “Bob’s Bunch” volunteers and several Milton firefighters managed to salvage some items that were delivered to the Milton Fire Station No. 2 for a yard sale and auction that had been planned for the March 3 event.

“Bob’s Bunch” plans to participate for the second straight year in the Louisville Walk to Defeat ALS, set for Saturday, May 12, at the Papa John’s Corporate Campus in Louisville.

Letters to the editor not to be confused with rumor or fact

A letter to the editor written by Milton resident Larry Graves and published in last week's issue of The Trimble Banner apparently has ruffled feathers in and around Milton. It has been brought to my attention that the letter has generated some criticism leveled at this newspaper--to the point that some have questioned whether The Trimble Banner reports rumor or fact.

Editor's Desk

Dave Taylor

Lest anyone be confused a letter to the editor is not published as fact or rumor but rather it is published as opinion, and as we state often on this page we encourage letters from our readers. Our policy concerning letters appears immediately below this column.

Interestingly, no letters of rebuttal to anything that was stated in Mr. Graves's letter have been received by mail, fax or email. We have received no phone calls from anyone taking issue with Mr. Graves's opinions as expressed in his letter.

No individual has written or called to accuse this newspaper of reporting rumor. Instead, individuals have chosen social network pages to convict this paper in the public arena without a hearing.

Don't you people understand what a "letter to the editor" is?

Let me tell you what it isn't. It isn't to be interpreted as news. Letters to the editor are written from the viewpoint of the reader and often contain opinions. That's why they are associated with Page 4, the "Opinion" page in each week's paper.

Should you desire to write a letter to the editor in rebuttal of Mr. Graves's opinion you are welcome to do so. Just follow the guidelines in the letters policy below.

We will not print outright libelous attacks on individuals. For that reason we reserve the right to edit any submissions.

It is not uncommon for citizens to question the management of local organizations, school boards, county or city government. This page provides a public forum for everyone to voice an opinion. A letter expressing an opinion is not to be construed as a public position taken by this newspaper. It is the written expression of the reader who chooses to air his/her thoughts on local issues.

Policy for letters to the editor

Everyone has an opinion about something going on in Milton, Bedford or Trimble County, in general. We love to hear those opinions. In fact, that's what the Opinion page is here for -- to give our readers a forum in which to discuss their views about current, local events.

Want to tell us what you think? Then, send us a Letter to the Editor. You can fax it to (502) 255-7797, e-mail it to Editor@MyTrimbleNews.com or mail it to us at P.O. Box 289, Bedford, KY 40006.

Please include your name, address and telephone number with your letter, so we may verify that you are the author and that you intend to have the letter published.

Only your name and the town you live in will appear in print; all other personal information will be omitted.

A good rule of thumb is to keep your letter to about 300 words. We reserve the right to edit all submissions for clarity, grammar, style and spelling. Depending on the amount of space we have in a given week, we may have to edit for length, but will make sure your point gets across.

For more information, call Dave Taylor at (502) 255-3205 during business hours.

Rep. Rand reviews the week in the House

During even-year legislative sessions, no other bill gets more attention than the budget, which is understandable, because no other bill directs so many of the General Assembly's priorities.

Even so, that doesn't undercut the importance of other legislation also set to become law, and as my colleagues and I prepare to wrap up the 2012 Regular Session this coming Thursday, there are more than a few of these bills that deserve mention.

Several, for example, will improve public safety, with two of the more prominent tackling the deadly rise of synthetic drugs and meth.

To cut back on the former, the House and Senate agreed to broaden the definition of these drugs, so that it will be much tougher for underground chemists to skirt the law by tweaking the drug's formula. This bill will also crack down on those selling these poisons - often referred to as bath salts or synthetic marijuana - with potential penalties ranging from prison to forfeiture of their property. Together, this twin approach should give serious pause to any reputable store owner considering getting into this shady mar-

The legislature's plan to limit meth, meanwhile, is designed to keep pseudoephedrine out of the hands of those that manufacture the drug while not hindering law-abiding citizens who depend on this medicine, especially during allergy season. In this case, those purchasing without a prescription will be limited to 7.2 grams of pseudoephedrine a month and up to 24 grams a year. A standard box with 48 pills - each having a 30 milligram dosage - amounts to 1.44 grams, meaning families could still buy five of these boxes a month. It's crucial to note that this bill only applies to tablets; it does not affect gel tabs or liquid forms of pseudoephedrine, both of which are much tougher to use in manufacturing meth. The hope, of course, is that we can stop the dramatic rise in labs that have gotten smaller and more portable in recent years. They're extremely toxic as well as fire hazards, and they can cost thousands of dollars to clean up.

Another problem that is also costing us financially is the growing number of copper thefts. There have been numerous stories of air conditioners and other equipment being vandalized for the valuable metal they have inside.

Now, however, these thieves will find it much more difficult to turn their stolen goods into quick cash. Recycling centers will be limited in making these types of purchases, and payment will need to be made by check. These centers will also be required to register with the state.

In economic development, there were two bills to pass that hold a lot of potential for Kentucky. The first of those is noteworthy because it will help our business community avoid losing a federal tax credit worth as much as $600 million. This credit was at-risk if we didn't come up with a plan to pay off the interest on the federal money the unemployment insurance fund had to borrow to maintain benefits during the recession. Obviously, we could not afford to let that credit be of 25 calls. Last week Raymond Stedwell, James C. Ball, Perry Gross, Bradford Andrews and Carl Callis went into the service, this week those leaving were Preston Leatherman, Henry C. Miller Jr., Benjamin F. Long, Elwood Wise, Sidney Aldridge, Raymond Perry, Ansil Carson, Vincent Stockdale, Norman E. Latta, Hubert Davis, Carroll C. Mullikin, Samuel McCord, Raymond L. Taylor and Baud Chandler.

State director of Kentucky Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee, Frank E. Daughterty stated, "Laws governing the sale of malt beverages are designed for the protection of public welfare and morals. It is mandatory that every licensed beer dealer adhere strictly to the tenets of these laws. Compliance with law not only protects the public welfare but also assures the licensed retailer of a wholesome condition in his retail outlet. Clean orderly outlets promote favorable public opinion and remove all causes for criticism of our industry."

The federal government realizes more than $1,000,000 a day in revenue and taxes from legal beer, he said, and that in the present war emergency revenues from legal beer play a prominent part in the defense cost of our government.

Miss Danette Wright, Milton and Mr. Robert Shelley, Covington, married last Wednesday.

Deaths: Mr. Penn Maddox, 71, Madison, former Trimble County farmer; Luella Green, 6-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Green; Clarence Moore, 77, Milton, formerly of Carroll County.

80 Years Ago (April 14, 1932)

A 53-year-old Courier-Journal was brought to the Trimble Democrat office by J.G. Lee. Published Sunday, July 20, 1879, was an article on "The Snyder distillery, belonging to the estate of James Snyder and operated by his heirs, located on the river bank about a mile above Milton Ky., was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. It was one of the largest and most complete mills in the Sixth district. The warehouse and family residence were saved. The distillery was valued at about $60,000 and was uninsured."

The Community Store has been sold to Mr. Watts of Frankfort, who will take over April 15.

Deaths: Thomas L. Hornsby, 36, Shelby County; Mrs. Glenna Stewart and two children, Evelyn and Dorothy, were burned to death at Louisville Saturday. Mrs. Stewart was a cousin to Mr. Ovie Pinnell; Mr. Dave B. Wallace, banker and Newspaperman, 73, Walton.

Surrender

The notion that we should come to the Lord on bended knee and with a humble heart is familiar to most religions. Pride and arrogance are inappropriate attitudes for approaching the all-powerful creator and ruler of the universe, and all of the world's major religions reflect this. In fact the word "Islam" derives from an Arabic word meaning submission or surrender. The idea that we should surrender or submit to the will of God can be hard to accept. We like our freedom and independence, and no one likes to be "under the thumb" of someone else. But the notion of surrender or submission here does not entail that you give up your own free will, but rather that you freely and of your own accord choose to submit to a higher power. There should be no coercion in religion, but rather each must make his or her own decision about submitting to God. This is not something that one can do once and for all, but rather one must do this almost continuously, as one will find that one's natural tendency is to fall back into our own selfish willfulness.

"Submit to God and be at peace with him; in this way prosperity will come to you. Accept instruction from his mouth and lay up his words in your heart."

TCHS SPRING SPORTS: BASEBALL

By DAVE TAYLOR
The Trimble Banner

Trimble County Head Baseball Coach Frank Ragland is hoping to improve on the accomplishments of last year's Raider team that compiled a 12-13 record. Ragland lost three members of that team—Cameron Adamski, Jimmy Duncan and Luke Sands—to graduation. Despite bright spots, which included taking runnerup spots in the 8th Region All A Classic and the North Central Kentucky Conference tournament, the Raiders came up short in the first round of the District post-season tournament. Trimble's 2012 incarnation of the "boys of spring" includes a wealth of talent from a group of players who earned valuable experience under fire a year ago.

Returning starters include seniors Josh Baker, Daniel Haney, Dylan Staples and Craig Ward; junior Jordon Tingle and sophomore Conner Beard. "Returning six experienced players" will be among the strengths on which to build a contending team, Ragland said. "Our defense should be solid. We should be better than last year by season's end."

Ragland looks for Owen County and Walton-Verona to be strong in the NCKC this season. The Raiders have three wins in nine outings so far this season, topping Eminence (15-0), Spencer County (8-7) and Dayton (20-1). Trimble came up short against Henry County (2-4), Carroll County (4-5), Owen County (6-12), South Oldham (2-11), North Oldham (1-8) and Oldham County (1-4). Players hoping to make a significant contribution to this team's success include senior Austin Collins, juniors Robbie Brooks and Kyle Sparks, sophomores Zack Beard, Taylor Bromwell, Tray Robbins, Ryan Wright and Andrew Young; and freshmen Jacob Childs, Josh Creech, Chris Goodin, Brian Haney, Evan Long and Chaylen Sedam.

Warm temps inspire spring gardening

Everyone seems so excited about gardening with the onset of early warm weather. Flowers are blooming 2 to 3 weeks earlier this year. In the garden you can plant peas, onions, potatoes, broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, kale, spinach, kohlrabi, brussels sprouts, carrots, beets, radishes, and lettuce.

Carole and I enjoyed our first harvest of asparagus, just the other day.

Most of these spring garden vegetables have many healthful benefits, antioxidants and phytochemicals that help fight against cancer and high blood pressure. Leafy green vegetables are one of the most nutrient dense foods available. Leafy greens help control blood pressure, reduce the risk of cancer and reduce the risk of heart disease. They contain magnesium, iron, calcium, folate, and vitamins C and B6. Asparagus, leafy greens and broccoli are good sources of vitamin A. Vitamin A is needed for vision, normal growth, reproduction, and a healthy immune system.

Asparagus also contains folate works with other vitamins to form hemoglobin in red blood cells, which supplies oxygen to the body's tissues. Broccoli is also a great source of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) which plays a vital role in fighting infection, keeping gums healthy, and healing wounds. Just one serving of broccoli provides over 100 percent of our daily need for vitamin C. And, vitamin C, like vitamin A, is a disease-fighting antioxidant. I like to eat broccoli, cauliflower and carrots raw with ranch dressings. Broccoli is also a good source of fiber.

Research shows that individuals who eat diets that are high in fiber and low in fat have a lower risk of heart disease and certain cancers—good reason to try to eat broccoli at least once a week, especially when it is in season.

Now, I know the weather is warm and quite agreeable to most of us, but don't jump the gun and start planting tomatoes and other summer vegetables too soon. There is still plenty of time for cold weather or a late season frost or freeze. We typically push the weather envelope each year when it comes to transplanting tomatoes. Everyone wants fresh garden tomatoes by July 4th! It is best to wait after danger of frost, usually May 10th, to transplant tomatoes. Tomatoes are a great source of vitamins A and C. Tomatoes also contain the carotenoids beta-carotene and lycopene which help reduce the risk of cancer and heart disease. Lycopene gives the tomato its red color.

The University of Kentucky has produced a publication for the Home Gardener. This publication covers planting, growing and caring for your garden. Contact our office if you would like a copy of the publication ID-128. You may stop in to pick one up, or we will be happy to mail one to you.

You are invited to join us at the Trimble County Cooperative Extension office for the 2012 Garden Series. The first session is Thursday, April 12, 6:30 p.m. featuring Jim Graves, leading a lesson on cheese making. April 17, 2012 at 6:30 p.m. will be a session on freezing and drying fruits and vegetables, and jerky making. The final session of the 2012 Garden Series is a day tour on April 25, 2012, to the Whole Foods Market in Louisville with a stop at Trader Joe's. Lunch will be at Lynn's Paradise Café. We plan to leave from the extension office at 8:30 a.m. on that morning.

Please call (502) 255-7188 if you are interested in any of the 2012 Garden Series sessions.

households, step-families, dual-careers and multigenerational families. But the home, a recognized place for families to relax, recharge and rejuvenate, can contribute to a strong family unit and a family's ability to build the necessary skills to manage stress.

Is your family experiencing stress? Families under stress may report some of the following:

- Sense of urgency

- Little time to spend together
- Sense of frustration (too much to do)
- Desire for the simpler life
- Never time to relax
- Explosive arguments
- Bickering
- Conversations centered on time and tasks, rather than people and feelings
- Meals eaten in haste
- Constant rushing from place to place
- Escaping into work or other activity
- Isolation in room
- Sense of guilt

- Being hard on yourself or others

- Variety of health concerns (anxiety, back pain, headaches, fatigue, trouble sleeping, upset stomach, weight gain/loss, high blood pressure)

De-stressing and strengthening the family requires the commitment and cooperation of all its members. Less stressed families seem to find more time to enjoy and support each other, display more flexibility, have reasonable expectations, communicate regularly with each other, set priorities and view stress as a challenge that is both temporary and controllable. It's never too late to learn coping strategies. To cope with the stressors of family life and build healthy relationships, it is important for families to:

- Encourage open communication—not only through words but also through actions.
- Strengthen the various relationships in the family—including the parent/child relationship, the husband/wife relationship and also relationships among the siblings.

- Manage crises and conflict in a positive manner—try to look at change as a positive challenge vs. a threat, try not to take things personally, accept responsibility and learning to negotiate and compromise.
- Don't worry about things that cannot be controlled.
- Prepare when possible for anticipated stressful events.
- Set realistic goals at home.
- Avoid over-scheduling. Maintain health, including regular exercise, proper nutrition, and relaxation.
- Engage in social events and hobbies.

Jane Proctor is Trimble County's Cooperative Extension agent for family and consumer services.

A concert benefiting the Carroll County Food Pantry will be held at the Carroll County Middle School Auditorium from 6-9 p.m. on Saturday, April 21.

Local Christian musicians The Infinite Realm will serve as the host group for the concert, billed as a "Feed the Hungry" Gospel Jubilee. Also appearing will be the Commonwealth Quartet from Nashville, Tenn., and Hearts of Joy, a trio based in Hanover, Ind.

The Carroll County Food Pantry, located at the St. John's Catholic Church on Fifth Street in Carrollton, has been in existence for 25 years, feeding many in the community who need help to make it to their next paycheck. According to local attorney Ruth Baxter, who oversees the charitable activity, approximately 120 people are fed every month, and 600-700 are fed during the Christmas season with food baskets from the pantry.

The concert admission price is $10 for ages 12 and older; $5 for ages 4 to 11; and children under four years of age will be admitted free. Discounts will be given to concertgoers who present canned food items at the door on the evening of the concert. You may bring up to five canned food items for each person attending and $1 will be deducted from the amount for each can donated. Thus, ages 12 and over will be admitted for $5 plus five cans of food; under 12 gets in free with five cans of food. The admission money will be split between the groups for their expenses to perform (traveling, lodging, equipment, etc.).

All canned food items will be donated to the food pantry to help re-stock the supply of food for those in need in the local area.

Hearts of Joy, a trio consisting of Sue Cline, Steve and Esther Bright, of Hanover, began their career at Hanover Baptist Church where they are frequently featured presenting special music in services. Those appearances grew into a concert ministry that has taken them to a number of venues in several states to share their unique blend of three-part harmony. Hearts of Joy have appeared on several programs with The Infinite Realm previously.

The Commonwealth Quartet is well known locally having made several appearances at the Carrollton Christian Church. The group consists of Dewayne Harris, his brother Shane Harris, Tom Sammons and Kevin Sanderson. The group recently signed a recording and distribution agreement with HeartWarming Records, a division of Homeland Inspiration Group.

The Infinite Realm, organized in 1969 at Trimble County High School, consists of seven TCHS graduates, including Carrollton resident Tony Gosson, vocals and 12 string guitar; Bedford resident Paul Wright, vocals and drums; Neal Wright, Campbellsburg, keyboards, vocals and bass guitar; sound engineer Ken Boyer, Milton; Steve Brown, tambourine and vocals, Hanover, Ind.; Rick Mahoney, vocals, bass guitar and keyboards, Hanover, Ind.; and Dave Taylor, vocals and guitar, Lexington, Ind.

The Realm recently recorded their latest CD album in Hendersonville, Tenn., with engineer Roy Fairchild who played keyboards for the Grammy Award-winning Oak Ridge Boys for 31 years. The album is currently in post production and the group hopes to have it available at the April 21 concert.

The Carroll County Middle School is located at 408 Fifth Street in Carrollton

Doors will open at 5 p.m. for all those attending the Jubilee. Bring a friend, family members, or just come out yourself and enjoy a wonderful evening of gospel music and help those in need in the process. For more information, call Tony Gosson at (502) 732-4928.
